DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 36-41, drawn to a biological joint construct.

Group II, claim(s) 42-44, drawn to a biological joint replacement.

Group III, claim(s) 45-63, drawn to a process for the production of a biological joint construct.

The inventions listed as Groups I-III do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: They fail to be unified by a special technical feature. Group I is drawn to a biological joint construct comprising a biocompatible carrier material, cartilaginous tissue, and osseous tissue, which is a composition well known in the art. For example, Mears (1985, U.S. Patent 4,553,272) teaches a surgical implant comprising a porous surgical steel implant in which are seeded cartilage and bone cells for the purpose of bone and joint reconstruction surgery (column 2, lines 15-34).

The expression "special technical feature" refers to those features that define a contribution which each of the claimed inventions, considered as a whole, makes over the prior art. Thus, a feature found in the prior art cannot be considered to be a special technical feature.

Group II is drawn to a joint replacement comprising two or more joint constructs as described in Group I. The composition of Group II has a different function and purpose than that of Group I; the invention of Group II is specifically intended for the replacement of an entire joint, while the product of Group I could be used if only one side of a joint requires replacement. Additionally, the product of Group II has additional components not required by Group I; Group II is therefore distinct from Group I.

Art Unit: 1651

Group III is drawn to a process for producing a biological joint construct or replacement as described in Group I. Because Groups I and III are unified only by the biological joint of Group I, and said joint is well known in the art, they do not relate to a single general inventive concept.

Group III is unrelated to Group II, as the methods of Group III do not make the product of Group II. Because Group II contains elements of Group I, and Group III is drawn to a method of making Group I, Groups II and III are unified only by the composition of Group I. Because said composition is well known in the art, Groups II and III do not relate to a single general inventive concept.

The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims.

Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and a product claim is subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise include all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be rejoined in accordance with the provisions of M.P.E.P. § 821.04. Process claims that depend from or otherwise include all the limitations of the patentable product will be entered as a matter of right if the amendment is presented prior to final rejection or allowance, whichever is earlier. Amendments submitted after final rejection are governed by 37 C.F.R. 1.116; amendments submitted after allowance are governed by 37 C.F.R. 1.312.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 C.F.R. 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35U.S.C. §§101, 102, 103, and 112. Until an elected product claim is found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowed product claim will not be rejoined. See "Guidance on Treatment of Product and Process Claims in light of In re Ochiai, In re Brouwer and 35 U.S.C. § 103(b)," 1184 O.G. 86 (March 26, 1996). Additionally, in order to maintain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, Applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution either to maintain dependency on the product claims or to otherwise include the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder.

Further, note that the protection against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See M.P.E.P. § 804.01.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
